What is bundling?

Module bundling is simply the process of stitching together a group of modules into a single file in the correct order.